PREFACE.

THE following volume, compiled by Mr. Lionel Cust, Assistant in the Department of Prints and Drawings, is the first of a complete Index which it is proposed to issue to the names of all the artists whose works are represented in the collections of that Department.

The system adopted in the Index corresponds strictly to that which is carried out in the practical arrangement of the collections themselves. That is to say, the works of all artists are divided in the first instance according to schools (using the word school as equivalent to nationality): within each school or nationality the names of all the artists belonging to it are arranged in alphabetical order: and under the name of each artist are specified the several classes of work by which he is represented,—original works by his own hand coming first, and those executed by other hands after his designs following. For example, turning to the German School, under the name of Albrecht Dürer will be found entries in the following order: “drawings,” “line-engravings,” “etchings”—these three classes represent his original design and handiwork: “woodcuts”—this in the case of Dürer and many of his contemporaries forms an intermediate class, where the design is also the artist’s own, and has been drawn by his own hand on the block, but cut by that of a subordinate craftsman: and lastly, “prints after”—this last class including all kinds of reproductions of his pictures by other hands, whether in engraving, lithography, photography, or by any means or process whatsoever.

Only a minority of artists are thus represented in several different classes at once; namely those who, in addition to painting, have produced original work in one or more of the forms of engraving or etching. Such artists are in the technical literature of the subject characterized as peintres-graveurs. Very many of the names indexed are those of painters who were painters only, and these can of course be represented by two classes of work at most, viz.: their original drawings or sketches, and prints by other hands after their pictures. Very many others, again, are names of engravers who were engravers only, doing no original work from their own invention, but reproducing exclusively the designs of others; and these can only be represented in one or more of the divisions of the engraver's art, as line, stipple, mezzotint, wood-cutting, &c.

With reference to the extensive division of workers last named, the merely reproductive engravers,—as a general rule the works of any one such engraver are not placed all together, but each is, when possible, represented under his own name by a certain number of selected examples, proof states or especially fine impressions, while the bulk of his ordinary work is distributed among “prints after” the various masters whose originals he reproduced. This mixed system of arrangement, although not the most logical, is found in practice to be the most convenient, inasmuch as it lends itself equally well to the requirements, on the one hand, of students who wish to examine a series of prints after any given painter, and, on the other hand, of those who desire to study the style and method of any given engraver. Whenever a student requires to have set before him the most complete possible series in either kind, the cross references in the Index enable such a wish to be readily gratified.

Exceptions to the general rule above mentioned are made for some few of the most conspicuous names in the history of art. Thus, in the case of the famous painters Rubens and Turner, the rich collections of engravings after their works are as far as possible brought together under their respective names; while in the case of a few of the most distinguished engravers, like Sir Robert Strange or Raphael Morghen, the series of examples by each is kept as far as possible together and complete, instead of being distributed under the names of the painters after whom they worked.

The present volume includes the Dutch and Flemish Schools (classed as one because at a certain period the arts, like the government, of the Netherlands were undivided), and the German Schools, including those of Austria, Bohemia, and Northern Switzerland. After the name of each artist is placed a brief statement of the art or arts which he practised, the place or places where he worked, and the dates of his birth and death. Due pains have been taken to ensure the exactness of this information, in accordance with the latest results of research, so that the Index may also serve as a comprehensive Biographical Dictionary of Artists on a brief scale. As such it will be found to include many names which are not given in other dictionaries.

A separate class, forming Part III. of the volume, comprises those artists whose names are not definitely ascertained, and who are known only by their monograms, initials, marks, or dates, or by titles derived from the subjects of their principal works. The great majority of these belong to Germany; but owing to the close resemblance between the style of the early German craftsmen of the lower Rhine and that of the neighbouring schools of the Netherlands, it has been thought better, in the absence of external information, to attempt no precise discrimination between the two.

It will be seen that the system adopted supplies a framework or skeleton on the lines of which a detailed catalogue of the entire contents of the Department, numbering many hundreds of thousands of items, may ultimately be compiled. But the materials for a task of so much magnitude are not yet ripe; and for the present purpose there is only added, for the guidance of students and visitors, a summary statement of the number and importance of the examples by which each artist is represented, and of the subjects or classes of subject which they illustrate.

The next volume of the Index, containing the Schools of France and Italy, is in course of preparation.
